Curtain Opens Tomorrow Night . . .

'La Boheme' Real Old-Fashioned Tear Jerker

BY HELEN LENHART
AND SHIRLEY DeFORTH

The opening of Puccini's "La Boheme," the University's all-school show, at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Student Union auditorium, will bring the gay life of Paris, 1848, to Missoula, 1952. Set against a background of stirring music which has thrilled audiences for a hundred years, this story of unconventional people seeking happiness is a part of an eternal dream. Realistic sets and period costumes create a mid-nineteenth century atmosphere.

In romantic 1840 France, four artists live by the will of fortune in a garret in the Latin quarter of Paris.

On Christmas eve, Schunard (Lane Justus), the musician, has sold a piece of his work and invites his friends to a party. While Rudolph (Bob Hoyem), the poet, stays to finish some work before joining the others, a knock is heard at the door. It is Mimi (Jeanne Couture), the fragile flower girl, whose candle went out as she was climbing the stairs. Rudolph helps the beautiful girl for she is not well, and finally invites her to join him and his friends.

At the cafe the four friends and Mimi are gay along with the merry townsfolk and their children. Marcel (James Cole), the painter, is about to propose a toast when he sees his former love, Musetta (Anna Jane Caldwell). Although she is escorted by a wealthy admirer, Musetta taunts the rejected Marcel into accepting her, after which she dispenses with her escort and leaves both checks for him to pay. The two of them join the merry-makers.

A few weeks later, the four artists are ironically making merry when Musetta knocks at the door. She brings in Mimi, weak and near death. She tells Rudolph that Mimi's last wish was to die near him. Mimi spends her last earthly moment in Rudolph's arms.

Work on the all school show actually began last spring quarter, when the five directors selected the operatic score.

ALD Pledges Twenty Frosh Women

Twenty freshmen women were pledged by Alpha Lambda Delta, sophomore scholastic honorary, in candlelight ceremony at the Student Union last night.

Those pledged were:

Joan Bachman, Marajean Brinstine, Delores Holden, Janet Howard, and Gail Klapwyk, Missoula; Louise Cooper, Kalispell; Shirley DeForth and Berta Huebl, Bendville; Carol Critelli, Virginia; and Arlene Werle, Billings; Terene Wilson and Marlene McKinley, Kellogg, Ida.; Mary Lou Marsh, Sheridan; Lou Marilyn Erhus, San Francisco, Calif.; Madeline Genger, Fairfield; Gertie Stene, Big Timber; Beverly Windlehurst, Livingston; Liz Rafferty, Helena; and Virginia Harms, Butte.

To be eligible for membership, freshmen women must have maintained a 2.2 average fall and winter quarters. Eighteen were pledged last year.

Today is Another Rural Play Day

Today is the second play day to be featured this year at the University for rural school children. This is the first time that two play days have been on the campus in the same year. Missoula county previously had their ninth annual play day April 23.

Participating in today's play day are children from Mineral and Ravalli counties.

In all, 312 children from 11 schools are expected to participate, said Kenneth Skemp, publicity chairman.

For the past five weeks, the children have been practicing games and dances. Robin Hood and his men of Sherwood Forest are the theme this year.

All morning the children will either dance or swim in the men's gymnasium, and in the afternoon they will play games outdoors.

The programs class of the physical education departments are responsible for the organization and administration of the two play days. Prof. Jane E. Dew of the women's P.E. department is advisor.

Mr. Fraudulent Says His Gift Might Be Short—But So Were the Ballots

BY ALLAN ROSE

The Kaimin has established one-sided communication with the now famous but still anonymous culprit of Monday's ballot box stuffing.

Last night at 7:30 the Kaimin received an anonymous phone call as follows:

"Go to the ticket booth at Gate 12 at Dornblaser field. In a drawer there you will find a letter dealing with the ballots."

Two reporters followed the instructions and found an envelope containing two letters, a lock of hair, and three $1 bills.

The first letter read as follows:

"Dear Editor:
"Having been blessed with so much publicity in the past week, I feel that I am obligated to make a few statements regarding the 'ignoble' act of stuffing the ballot boxes.

"Please get the facts before you put anything in print—I did not stuff the ballots in the senior box, I put them in the sophomore box.

"I did not charge the ballots to ASMSU. I offered to pay for them. To prove that I am a man of integrity and realizing my responsibility as a good citizen to pay my honest debts, I am enclosing three dollars, two of which shall be allocated to cover the cost of printing the ballots. This may be a little short but the ballots were too. The remainder of the enclosed amount will be dispersed as follows: 1. Twenty-five cents to start a fund for poor, starving journalists. 2. Twenty-five cents to the would-be super-sleuths of ASMSU for their undying efforts. 3. Twenty-five cents to the Kaimin syndicate for smart pills. 4. Twenty-five cents to Betty Smith for the medal she thinks I deserve."

Sincerely,

Mr. S—the low, nervy, black-hearted, ballot stuffing, mean cuss of a poor citizen and left handed culprit.

"P.S.: I realize that it is the policy of the Kaimin not to publish anonymous letters, but due to present circumstances I shall refrain from signing my full name."

The second letter had the lock of hair (which looks and smells

"Here also is a lock of my dark, wavy hair to be sold at the next Chinese auction. Betty Smith is to have the first choice—"

"Culprit"

With his letters, the publicity-hungry "culprit" has started fresh speculation as to his identity. The letters showed knowledge of the "stuffing affair" which led Kaimin reporters to believe that they are the handiwork of the original miscreant.

Beryl Handford, Kalispell; Willa Rosean, Columbus; Donna Bar, Colstrip; Joyce Carstensen, Helena; Peg Griffith, Williston, N. D.; Kenette Kenison, Dillon; Marvis Corin, Butte; Reba Turnquist, Ronan; and Jeanne Shreeve, Missoula, are making the trip.

THE NIGHT WIRE

BY UNITED PRESS

Toyko—The Communist prisoners on Kojima island off the coast of Korea have indicated they may be willing to swap the camp commander, whom they are holding as a hostage, for one thousand sheets of paper. Brigadier General Francis B. Bly, who was snatched by the fighting Red prisoners yesterday morning, sent out a note urging the authorities to give the prisoners the paper and to send in a hospital representative. There is no indication why the Communist want the paper.

Washington—President Truman says he will support someone for the presidency but he refuses to say who that will be or when it will happen.

The Chief Executive told newsmen that he has as much right to pick a candidate as any other American. He also defended his failure to be more definite by pointing out that the 1948 election proved that he is a pretty good political judge.

Miles City—Dan Marinkovich, B squad basketball coach at Custer County high school, has been named head coach, replacing Bill Racicot who resigned.

Marinkovich, whose B squad won 17 and lost one the first year he coached it, will attend the University summer coaching school from June 16 to August 22.

Washington—Army Secretary Frank Pace says atomic weapons will give more military power per defense dollar than conventional arms . . . and he says the nation is making "dramatic advances" in developing new atomic weapons.

Reynolds & Crew: Well Done! Competence Merits Praise

Bill Reynolds stepped down from a job well done Wednesday afternoon when he handed the gavel of student government to the new ASMSU President Dan Lambros. Reynolds sailed the ASMSU ship of state on smooth water during his three quarters as captain of a student crew that gave him little trouble, but to whom he gave plenty of service. The captain we call "Doc" worked hard at revising the ASMSU constitution, appointing hard-working, reliable committee members, and recognizing student needs.

He leaves the ASMSU ship of state in good shape despite the act of fraudulent mutiny which occurred at Monday's election. Reynolds strongly urged at his last meeting the need for a better election system, enforcement of the requisition system, and that all steps be taken to strengthen the ASMSU constitution. He has also voiced the fact that just because he has stepped out of student government, doesn't mean he has dropped the ballot fraud issue, no matter whose toes he steps on.

While we extend congratulations to Bill Reynolds for good student administration, we also say it takes a good staff to make a good president. Therefore, congratulations to ex-Business Manager Harvey Schlieman, who handled the purse strings of ASMSU with good business methods and who spent considerable time with the thankless job of preparing a new budget. Also to Audrey Thorsrud, a helpful contributor of both government policies and social committee activities, and to Donna Persons, for spirited and efficient Central board minutes, plus a helpful hand in almost all ASMSU activities.

Wednesday the old captain and mates walked down the plank and Lambros and mates walked up, but we hardly think the old ship-masters will fade away. We also think the new navigators will capably chart the course of ASMSU through another successful year.—L.K.

The Campus Editor Says—

BY ALLAN ROSE

Judging from the low bids at the WSSF Chinese auction Wednesday night, students are either low on cash, or tired of contributing money to various and sundry drives on campus.

Many of the articles and services sold went for less than they would cost downtown. A few examples were: the use of a new red convertible for one day for $1.50; and two steak dinners for $3.10.

These two examples are bargains you wouldn't expect to find at an auction held to raise funds for a worthy cause.

As I said, students may be low on cash right now, but it may be that they are tired of the many "worthy causes" to which they are asked to contribute.

Granted, the World Student Service fund is a worthy cause. It contributes to the education of students in foreign countries. Such education is supposed to be a remedy for the misunderstandings which breed world wars.

But, so was the Easter Seal drive a worthy cause, and the Red Cross drive, the Cancer drive, the Christmas seal drive, and so on ad infinitum.

One drive is scarcely over before another begins. Students can hardly be blamed for growing tired of seeing outstretched palms wherever they go.

Fund-raising campaigns have met with decreasing success lately. Despite attempts to dress up the drives by Chinese auctions and "ugly man" contests, the proceeds get lower each year.

Perhaps it is time for MSU to have one big fund-drive, at a time when students have the most money to spend. Then dole out percentages of the resulting funds to worthy causes as they come along.

A BITTER BIT

AN EXPERT: An expert is a person who avoids all the small errors as he sweeps forward to the grand fallacy.

Editors SPEAK

The old conflict of "activities" vs. academic education rises again. Arnold Toynbee spoke at 8 p.m. Tuesday. An Eisenhower parade was scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Now we don't really think the rally planners thought their event more important than Toynbee's lecture. How could they be intelligent University students and reason that way?—Oregon Daily Emerald.

Today we the free citizens of America, are being led down the dark road of Socialism that has taken so many European nations to their doom. To be a U. S. citizen is to be human, and not a State robot . . . humbled and dulled by having the State nurse and guide us.—University of Portland Beacon.

A safe generalization can be made on the content of Missouri university's humor magazine—it doesn't include humor. The feeble attempt at humor falls generally into two categories: Panning for the sake of panning, not to be funny; and crude, repulsive sex puns and innuendos.—The Missouri Student, Columbia.

Our colonial ancestors who bled and froze in the Revolutionary war, to free the colonies from George III, would be horrified if they were to return to America today and visit a modern university. The first thing they would probably see would be The Queen.—University of Kansas.

The University of Idaho is noted across the nation for its student government. In almost no other college or university is the athletic budget managed under the associated students. In all too many there is some form of faculty control of publications. And on down the list.—The Idaho, Argonaut.

Ford to Speak At Press Club

James L. C. Ford, dean of the journalism school, will give a talk entitled "The 'Write-of-Way' for Readers and Reporters" at the annual awards dinner of the Spokane Junior Press club, on May 18.

The junior club is an organization for high school journalists sponsored by the Spokane Press club. Dean Ford's talk will deal mainly with the basic phases of newspaper writing, emphasis of local subjects, and considerations of news judgement.

Scholarships will be awarded outstanding members of the junior club at the banquet.

Letters to Editor . . . Klauer Protests Using Sentinel Pictures in Probe

Dear Editor:

After, at first, only reporting the campus election fraud, your paper, in cooperation with Central Board, now seems to be all out to detect the person who picked up the additional ballots at Delaney's print-shop.

The story in Thursday's Kaimin, telling of the efforts made, amazed me quite a bit. It seems to me that the method of taking pictures from the Sentinel downtown to have the printer identify the person is an abuse of the purpose for which the photographs were originally intended—the more so since the Sentinel is not officially out yet.

Did the students who had their pictures taken know that their freedom of privacy would be intruded in that way? Did the students who had their pictures taken know that they were giving the photographs to such a sort of disguised police file?

I might remind you that even a court in this country—in a case not so long ago—refused to acknowledge evidence because this evidence had been obtained by tapping telephone wires.

I would like to see the fraud investigated with whatever means possible as long as they are in the realm of the morally and legal permission. The end should not justify any kind of means—just because probably a number of people at the polls on election day were not very alert.

Sincerely yours,
Fred Klauer

(Ed. note:—Speaking of the end justifying the means, Mr. Klauer; the Sentinel picture provided the best means available considering the time factor. Also, the Sentinel offered us the pictures to use as a means of identification.)

The downstairs will have a new part-hardwood, part-tile floor; the dining room will be enlarged, and the kitchen will be completely modernized. A chapter room and recreation room will be included in an enlarged basement. Construction will be completed this summer in time for members, who are now living at Jumbo hall, to move into the house fall quarter.

New Hall

A pajama party for 30 music festival guests was given last Thursday night. Carol Murray, Kalispell; Doris Sandsmark, Ronan; Phyllis Bradbury, San Marino, Cal.; Virginia Smith, and Lauris Collison, Great Falls, entertained with musical selections and readings.

Pat Porch, Missoula, received a diamond from Private Dale Kidder, now stationed at Camp Roberts, Cal.

NO NIGHT CLUB DANCE

There will not be a Night Club dance this week end at the Student Union because of the all-school show, "La Boheme."

Roland Young Stars Sunday At Simpkins

"The Man Who Could Work Miracles," starring Roland Young, will be presented by the University Film society at Simpkins hall Sunday. Showings will be at 7 and 9.

The movie, a London Films production, combines the writing of H. G. Wells, the producing of Alexander Korda, and the acting of Young.

When one of the god-like creatures who inhabits the firmament of author H. G. Wells decides to endow a mortal with the power to work miracles, his choice, by chance, is George McWhirter Fotheringay (Young).

No one is more surprised than Fotheringay when, in the course of a public house argument about metaphysics, he orders the chandelier to turn upside down and it does.

As a result, Fotheringay is thrown out of the saloon for conduct unbecoming a gentleman, and goes home to try his new knack. Soon, however, the problem of working miracles becomes so bothersome that he can no longer stand it.

Time magazine termed the movie "an engaging combination of farce, fantasy, and philosophy."

Trackmen Meet Strong Utes in Meet Tomorrow

The Montana Grizzlies will play host to the Utah university track and field team tomorrow. The meet is scheduled to get under way at 1:45 on Dornblaser field.

The field events will open the meet with the mile run starting the running events. The power of the Utes has long been recognized. They have been Skyline champions for the past two years. Both teams are undefeated in Skyline play with wins over BYU and Utah State.

The Utah team took the Silvertips a year ago at Salt Lake City by a score of 66½-64½. In that meet, the Silvertips led the Redskins by three points going into the last event of the meet, the mile relay. The Utah team took that event and the meet.

History may repeat again this year, as the two teams were undefeated in conference play when they met last year. But the story goes that lightning never strikes in the same place twice.

The Grizzlies have been in the Skyline conference for only two years, but in that time the prestige of the Bruins has been on the up-hill trend. Last year the Grizzlies lost the Skyline conference meet by 3.5 points to the Utah team. If the Grizzlies can get by the Utes tomorrow, it will give the teams in the Eastern division purpose enough to sit up and take note.

Many of the same men who met last year at the Ute's stadium will again meet on Dornblaser field tomorrow. Some of the events will be "grudge" battles. Leon Conner and Bill Wolfersheim should stage a dandy race in the 440 run. The two tied for second in the conference meet last year.

Joe Luckman and Utah's duo of Gerald Tovey and Dale Newbold will undoubtedly provide the fans with a fine race in the 100 and 220. The mile run should be close with Bill Rife and Doug Hart renewing their rivalry. John Badgley is Montana's hurdles hope against three very fine Utah hurdlers.

The rain this week has helped track conditions very much, and has stopped at convenient times so the track men could work out. Under the present conditions, the track should be very fast for Saturday's meet. The meet will be run regardless of weather, according to Adams.

Montana's Entries:
Hurdles—John Badgley, Dick Anderson, Jack Coppedge.
100 and 220 yard dash—Joe Luckman and Billy Gue.
440 yard dash—Leon Conner, Marv Reynolds, Bill McMaster, Don Enebo, and Howard Ruppel.
880 yard run—Mike Fleming, Marv Reynolds, and Jim Steindorf.
Mile and two mile run—Bill Rife and Bob Ghiglieri.

Pole vault—Don Crosser, George Tarrant, Doug Delaney, and Bud Bellis.
Broad jump—Rich Johnson, John Badgley, Bob Hudson, Bud Bellis, and Joe and Mickey Luckman.

High jump—Jack Coppedge and Bill Reynolds.
Discus—Bob Ripke, Hal Maus, Bob Beach, Mickey Luckman, and Neil Hunter.
Shot put—Mickey Luckman, Neil Hunter, and Bob Beach.
Javelin—Jack Rothwell, Ed Stocking, and Ed Anderson.

Three out of four traffic accidents happen in clear weather on dry roads.

Distance Runner

IN DUEL TOMORROW—Bill Rife, ace Grizzly distance runner, will meet his toughest competition of the season when he engages Utah's Doug Hart in a running duel. They ran neck and neck in three meets last year.

Ninety-Eight Schools Enter Interscholastic Track Meet

Ninety-eight Montana high schools have entered the forty-sixth annual Interscholastic track and field meet as of yesterday. More entries may yet come in, said Dr. J. W. Howard, chairman of the interscholastic committee.

The championship high school spring sports event will be held on Dornblaser field on May 16 and 17.

The 98 high schools that entered so far this year top last year's list of schools by eight. In all, some 1300 students—over 600 of them in track and field alone—will represent their schools in this meet.

Dr. Howard said that contests will again be run on a class A and B basis. He said that no more than 10 participants from each school may be allowed to participate in track and field events.

Track and field preliminaries will be run Friday. Finals are scheduled for Saturday.

Missoula merchants will again offer "winners cups" to victorious teams. These cups are retained by the winning school for a one year period. To individual winners, the University offers engraved gold, silver, and bronze medals. In all, over 140 prizes are offered for the 14 athletic events.

Missoula high school is the defending Interscholastic champion. They nosed out the Helena Bengals by one point in the meet last year. The Missoula Spartans have won the big spring classic 16 times since the meets originated in 1904. Their closest competitor, Billings, has won 15 contests.

SPE's, Corbin, Jumbo Win Softball Frays

The SPE's upset the Sigma Chis, 14-10, Corbin hall beat ATO's, 30-22, Jumbo hall defeated South hall, 6-3, and the Ski club forfeited to the Theta Chis in softball games Wednesday night.

The SPE's displayed a heavy-hitting attack in downing the Sigma Chis, despite three home-runs by the Chis. Holly McCrea pitched for the Chis. Gary Struck made a home-run thriller for the SPE's.

In the Corbin-ATO marathon, it was just a case of who could get the most runs, and Corbin, for the first time this year, succeeded.

Slender Dale Sterner and stocky Ted Lloyd were engaged in a pitchers duel most of the Jumbo-South game, but some timely hits in the last two innings pushed the Jumboites ahead.

Sports Calendar

Friday:

Tennis: 1 p.m., Montana vs. Utah State, University courts.

Golf: 1 p.m., Montana vs. Utah State, Missoula Country club course.

Baseball: 2 and 8 p.m., Montana vs. Utah State (2 games) Campbell field.

Saturday:
Football: 10 a.m., Final scrimmage of spring practice, Football practice field.

Track: 1 p.m., Montana vs. Utah, Missoula Spartans vs. Butte Public, Dornblaser field.

I-M Tennis Series Underway; Sigma Chis Grab Match

The annual intramural tennis matches are underway. The first round matches are supposed to be played by 4 p.m. today.

The Sigma Chis beat the Phi Sigs in the only match that had been played as of yesterday. The other teams meeting in the first rounds are the SPEs and Theta Chis, Phi Deltas and South hall, and SAEs and Sigma Nus.

Each team has to lose twice before they are eliminated from the tournament. The winners play in one bracket and the losers play in another. The final winners of the two brackets play each other in the fifth round, which is for the championship.

All the rounds must be played by 4 p.m. on the day designated: The second round matches by May 14, the third round by May 21, the fourth by May 26, and the fifth by May 30.

All tennis players should check the schedule on the bulletin board outside the intramural office, George Cross, intramural director, said. He said that all softball teams should do this also, in case of any changes in the schedule.

Executive Board Plans Publicity At AWS Picnic

MSU's placement bureau and counselling center are getting new publicity managers next fall.

AWS executive board started plans to publicize the two services at a picnic Wednesday afternoon at Montana Power park.

Mollie Iler, president from Missoula, appointed committees to handle publicity and to plan the general program. Serving on the publicity committee headed by Marilyn Foster, Missoula, are Myrna Dolven, Harlem; Betty Elmore and Jo Lou Hammer, both of Billings; Ruby Lindstrom, Carlyle; and Carla Wetzstein, Arlee. The committee handling the general program under Clara Sexton, Deer Lodge, is composed of Marilyn Kintner, Missoula; Marilyn McConnell, Kalispell; Janet McKenzie, Great Falls; Jary Nelson, Conrad; and Donna Skor, Helena.

AWS will sponsor a housing desk in the Eloise Knowles room in the Student Union next week for the benefit of high school students attending the Interscholastic. Junior and senior women are needed for two hour shifts at the desk all day Thursday, May 15, and Friday, May 16. Volunteers are asked to sign up with their AWS representatives. Lists will be posted in North and New Halls for freshman and sophomore women to sign up as guides to direct the visitors to their assigned houses.

Co-ordination of the Panhellenic rush schedule for fall quarter and AWS orientation week activities were discussed.

Deferred Men Can Enlist

Students who have been deferred until the end of the academic year under the present Selective Service act can enlist in the branch of service of his choice after the end of school, Dean Wunderlich said yesterday.

Dean Wunderlich said that there is a period of time during which the student is reclassified and processed for induction immediately after the end of the academic year. During this period, the student is still technically deferred, and can enlist in the branch of the service that he chooses.

Fulbright Awards Open

Competition for overseas graduate study for 1953-54 under the Fulbright act will be open May 1 through Oct. 31, according to Dean Wunderlich.

The Fulbright awards are part of a plan to further goodwill and understanding between the United States and other countries through the exchange of students.

The awards consist of round-trip transportation, a maintenance allowance, and a small supplemental allowance for travel and book purchases abroad.

Application forms, information folders, and the manual of procedures are available at Dean Wunderlich's office.

Firestone Chiefs To See Students

There will be two men at the Placement bureau today interviewing graduating seniors for numerous positions which have anything to do with the operation of a large company.

The two men are J. C. Gardner, territorial manager of the Firestone company of Salt Lake, and R. F. Stoudt, manager of the local Firestone store, will be at the bureau this afternoon.

They will interview students for positions such as salesman and accounting, to mention only two. Students can make appointments for these interviews in Craig hall 106.

ROYALEERS GIVEN TRIP TO MAGIC CITY

The Royaleers have been invited to exhibit the Royal Square at the Billings square dance festival May 16 and 17 by Billings merchants. According to Bob Jasken, Kalispell, club president, the merchants are guaranteeing round trip expenses.

Jasken said yesterday that about 18 persons and chaperones will attend the event.

House Decorations Limited For Interscholastic

There will be a $50 limit set on the amount to be spent by fraternities and sororities for house decorations in the Interscholastic meet the weekend of May 16 and 17, Don Lucas, traditions board chairman announced.

All fraternities and sororities are asked to compete in the house decorations for the forty-sixth Interscholastic meet. There is no theme for this year's decoration, but emphasis should be on drawing the high school students to the University and possibly showing them the building program that is going on around campus. The other stipulation in this year's competition will be that no professional help should be obtained from the outside.

The house decorations must be finished by 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, May 16. Judging of the decorations will be from 5 to 7 the same day. The decorations will be judged on originality and the effort put into it, plus how well the theme is gotten across. Judges for this year's decorations program have not been selected, but will be announced.

The competition will be separate, that is the sororities will compete among themselves and the fraternities will do the same. A trophy will be awarded the winning sorority and fraternity. The award will be made at the prizes and awards convo later in the quarter.

UCF MEMBERS TO ATTEND INTER-VARSITY CONFERENCE

Ralph Holmlund, Hamilton, Frary Buell, Conrad, member University Christian fellow will leave this evening to attend the Inter-varsity club spring conference at the Elliston YM camp this week end. College groups throughout the state participating in the event.

According to Holmlund, president, other MSU delegates will probably take in the outing.
